RATIONALE

Laparoscopic surgery and robotic surgery have allowed the abdominal anatomy to be reviewed in light of the particular approach to the structures, thus diversifying the traditional vision obtained in open surgery. Today's surgeon must deal with a different approach to anatomy, lacking the possibility of dissecting with manual feedback, having observation angles for different regions and observing the anatomical structures magnified by the visual instrument.

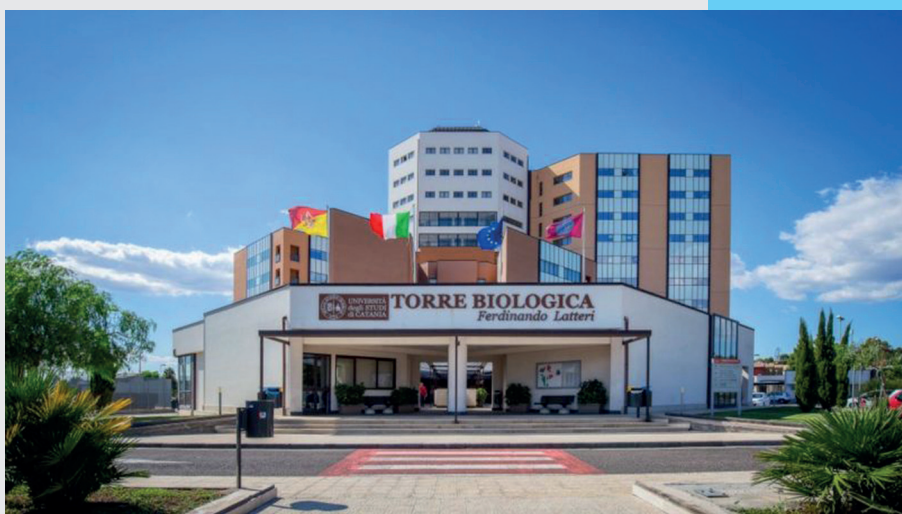

Furthermore, laparoscopic surgery and more recently robotic surgery allow the surgeon to dissect by recognizing anatomical planes that are not visible in open surgery.

For these reasons, a conference dedicated to laparoscopic anatomy and not to laparoscopic techniques is very timely and useful for the training and updating of today's surgeon.

Human anatomy does not change, but the approach and dissection techniques do.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

- 8,30 Registration of participant
- 9,00 Welcome address: SERGIO CASTORINA
Authorities addresses
- 10,00 Opening lecture
Laparoscopic Surgery: past, present and future
MARIO MORINO (Turin, Italy)
Introduced by FRANCESCO BASILE (Catania, Italy)
- 10,30 SYMPOSIUM
Hepato-Bilio-Pancreatic video anatomy
Chairman JACQUES DOMERGUE (Montpellier, France)
Moderators NICOLA CINARDI, ISIDORO DI CARLO (Catania, Italy), AZIZ KARAA (Paris, France)
Robotic and laparoscopic anatomy in liver resections
SALVATORE GRUTTADAURIA (Palermo, Italy)
- 10,50 Robotic anatomy in liver transplant
FABRIZIO DI BENEDETTO (Modena, Italy)
- 11,10 Robotic Bilio-Pancreatic anatomy in pancreatic surgery
FABRIZIO PANARO (Alessandria, Italy)
- 11,30 SYMPOSIUM
Colo rectal Video anatomy
Chairman FRANCESCO CORCIONE (Naple, Italy)
Moderators ANTONIO BIONDI, GAETANO LA GRECA, RICCARDO MORICI (Catania, Italy)
Robotic colorectal anatomy for rectal cancer
AMJAD PARVAIZ (Lisbon, Portugal)
- 11,50 Embryologic base of anatomy: how it relates to colorectal surgery
JOEP KNOL (Genk, Belgium)
- 12,10 Robotic anatomy for CME in right colon cancer
AMJAD PARVAIZ (Lisbon, Portugal)
- 12,30 Mario Morino and Joep Knol face to face: TEM or Tamis: what's better for rectal exposure?
Chairmen VINCENZO PANEBIANCO (Taormina, Italy), DIEGO PIAZZA (Catania, Italy)
Moderators MARCELLO DONATI, ANTONIO ZANGHI (Catania, Italy)
- 12,50 Total intracorporeal colonic resections: educational video
AZIZ KARAA (Paris, France)
- 13,10 Short lecture: teaching in Italian surgical program
GUIDO BASILE (Catania, Italy)
- 13,30 Light Lunch
- 14,30 SYMPOSIUM
Upper GI and Bariatric video anatomy
Chairman LUIGI PIAZZA (Catania, Italy)
